ANOTHER SECESSIONIST.—Should the people at last realize upon yielding up his temporal power, it will obviously be an act of Papal Secession.

14000 FROM PUNCH.—The fight at Cotton Mill in the World.—The fight at present going on between the North and South America.

"I sell peppermints on Sunday," because they carries them to church and eat 'em, and keeps awake to hear the sermon; but if you wants pickled herring, you must come on week-days. They're secular commodities."

A Philadelphia editor thus logically judges his delinquents:

"We don't want money desperately, but our creditors do, and no doubt they owe you. If you pay us we'll pay them, and they'll pay you. We hope all our friends will try to collect their outstanding accounts in that way."

A SMART REPLY.—"We will not stop until we have except every rebel into the Southern Gulf," exclaimed an excited Northerner, whilst addressing a casual group on Long, one day last week. "And how long will you take about?" inquired a Southerner, who had just walked up. "Yes, took four months to get thirty-one miles from Washington, and you want back in three hours and a half."

CLOSED FOR REPAIRS.—A good joke is told of old Judge L. His honor kept a den of good old Jamaica in his private office for his own comfort and the entertainment of his particular friends. The Judge had noticed for some time that on Monday mornings his Jamaica was considerably lighter than when he left on Saturday nights. Another fact had gradually established itself in his mind. His son Sam was missing from the paternal pew on Sundays. On Sunday afternoon Sam came in and went up stairs rather heavily, when the Judge hailed him.

"Sam, where have you been?"

"To church, sir," was the prompt reply.

"What church was it?"

"Second Methodist, sir."

"Hear a good sermon, Sam?"

"Very powerful, sir; it quite staggered me, sir."

"Ah, I see," said the Judge, "quite powerful, eh, Sam?"

The next Sunday the son came home rather earlier than usual, and apparently not so much "battered" under the weather.

"Your father haled him with:"

"Well, Sam, been to the Second Methodist again to-day?"

"Yes, sir."

"Good sermon, my boy?"

"Fact, father, that I could not get in; church shut up and ticket on the door."

"Sorry, Sam, keep going—you may get good by it yet."

Sam says on going to the office for his usual spiritual refreshments, he found the "John" empty, and heering the following day, "There will be no service here to-day, this church being closed for repairs."

"DEATH OF MR. MARTIN.—Mr. Martin, one of the newly elected M. P. P. for Lower Canada, died recently.

Advices from Italy announce that Kossuth is alarmingly ill with a disease of a pulmonary character, and is not expected to survive through the Winter.

We regret to observe that Mr. Chancy, of the Norfolk Messenger, died a few days ago. He was one of the few practical printers who are successful.

Journalism has made rapid strides within the last few months in Naples.—The Gazette di Napoli was the only daily paper fifteen months ago, and now there are fifteen.

Madame Saqui performed on the tight rope at the Paris Hippodrome, lately. Although now eighty-three years of age, she danced with considerable vigor and grace, and was loudly applauded.

If the news given by the correspondent of the Cornwall Freeholder be correct, Mr. Benjamin has accepted the Secretaryship of the Bureau of Agriculture, and a new writ must forthwith be issued for North Hastings.

Unskilled.—The following is the 35th issue of the Bell.—Wm. Smith, 35; Ira Chapman, 307; Wm. Randall, 243; A. Shaver, 237; J. A. Sangster, 301; old Council, Wm. Hamilton, 182; W. Walker, 81.

A New York Journal says: "The drain of specie from the Banks continues. It is estimated that over a million was either withdrawn or converted into a special deposit to-day. Some of the Banks refuse to receive special deposits."

We learn by the English papers of the death of James Nichol, an eminent Wesleyan, the translator of the works of Arminius, and the author of a work on Calvinism and Arminianism compared. He was a personal friend of Southey and Wordsworth.

AUSTRIA AT THE EXHIBITION.—A Vienna paper states that the Municipal Council of that city has voted a sum of 10,000 florins to enable a certain number of intelligent artisans of limited means to visit the Universal Exhibition in London next year.

Civil war has affected St. Louis, like a pestilence. More than 60,000 inhabitants have left that city within a year; an immense number of houses and stores are vacant, and all business except Government contracts is at a dead stand.
